There's nothing so important to be done as service to children. Find out what is not being done that is necessary and worthy and do that.

– Dr. John Herr Musser of Philadelphia to his cousin, Seattle Children's founder Anna Herr Clise, 1906

Our History

The death of Anna Clise's young son from inflammatory rheumatism in 1898 made her tragically aware of the lack of specialized care for children – and inspired her to take action.

In 1907, with the help of 23 female friends, Clise established the first facility in the Pacific Northwest to treat these children, most of whom would otherwise have been left to endure pain and disability throughout their lives.

Clise's original vision – to care for children regardless of race, religion, gender or a family's ability to pay – still guides Seattle Children's today.
